Training Program : ADVANCED FOOD FRAUD MITIGATION AND AUDITING ALIGNED WITH FSSC 22000:2018 VERSION 6

The participant successfully completed a 4-hour competency-based training programme on Food Fraud Mitigation and Auditing under FSSC 22000:2018 Version 6. The course covered food fraud fundamentals, vulnerability assessment, determination of significant vulnerabilities, mitigation planning, FSMS integration, verification measures, supplier assurance, objective evidence evaluation, and audit-ready implementation practices. The participant demonstrated understanding of how to identify, assess, control, verify, and audit food fraud vulnerabilities within a Food Safety Management System.

Course Curriculum	Description
Food Fraud Fundamentals and FSSC 22000: 2018 Requirements	Introduces food fraud, its distinction from food defense and HACCP, and the core requirements of FSSC 22000:2018 Version 6.
Food Fraud Vulnerability Assessment (FFVA)	Explains how to conduct and document an FFVA using a defined methodology across products, materials, processes, and supply chains.
Determining Significant Vulnerabilities	Focuses on identifying which vulnerabilities are significant enough to require formal mitigation using structured, evidence-based criteria.
Food Fraud Mitigation Measures and the Mitigation Plan	Covers how to convert FFVA outputs into a documented mitigation plan with controls, verification, and FSMS support.
FSMS Integration, Team Competence, and Training	Explains how food fraud mitigation is embedded into the FSMS through team competence, training, communication, audits, review, and corrective action.
Auditing Food Fraud under FSSC 22000 : 2018	Prepares learners to audit food fraud controls by reviewing FFVA, mitigation plans, implementation evidence, and audit findings.
